Arts Council News

It's the end of one year, but the arts council is already making resolutions for next! The Board has met for its Strategic Planning and Review. The results: money set aside for upgrades to the facility and programming in 2017, transitioning our constitution and bylaws to the new BC Societies Act, and lightening the administrative load for the Treasurer.

Fall Art Show & Sale: After a successful show in October, a small committee meets this coming week to update art categories and the entry form for next year. The goal is to be welcoming and inclusive of new art media. The FASS dates are September 30 and October 1 of 2017. There is no theme for FASS 2017 (i.e. artist's choice). Want to make a suggestion for the committee? OliverCAC@gmail.com

Community Christmas Concert: There were lots of winners walking away with prizes and goody bags at the concert last Sunday. But the biggest winner was the Oliver Food Bank. In addition to donating a van-load of groceries, the audience raised $500 in cash. Thank you everyone!

Facebook is Coming: One of the goals set for 2017 is to open a Facebook page. This will make it easier for members to connect and share arts events, and for new arts lovers to find us!
